RE: Accredited Institutions, Graduate School

It is the responsibility of staff members who are taking graduate courses to make sure that the institution they are attending are “regionally accredited”.

The New Jersey Department of Education requirements specifically states that course work will only be accepted by an institution that is accredited by one of six associations.

The website: <https://www.state.nj.us/education/license/usaccred.htm> will provide additional information as well as allow users to check the accreditation of any institution.

If you any questions please feel free to contact me.
